High-quality noncredit courses are available in numerous program areas including information technology, small business and management, technical training, certification and licensure preparation, financial planning, real estate, early childhood education, health sciences, professional development, writing, English as a Second Language, human resources, supervision, and more. Special programs are available for older adults, adults with developmental disabilities, and Spanish speakers. Course offerings change continuously to reflect the ever-changing needs of the businesses and communities we serve. As you peruse the programs and services in this publication, we're sure you'll find a wide variety of offerings suited to you.

In addition to classes for individuals, we contract with many businesses and government agencies to provide customized training for their employees. These classes are held at places of employment or can be offered at WDCE sites throughout the county.

Explore ideas that go beyond the canvas and physical reality and express these concepts in a non-representational manner. Prerequisite: Introductory painting class in the medium listed in section notes. TWA

AI & Social Media: A Future of Fake Information? (NEW)

AI is seemingly everywhere these days—navigating our cars, answering questions for us through Alexa or Siri or selecting the movies and tv shows we watch. It is also flooding social media with images of events and people that don’t exist or giving disinformation a powerful tool to create ‘news reports’ full of falsehoods that easily pass for the real thing. In this course we will explore how AI is changing the nature of social media. For example, is AI making fake news worse, or can it be a tool to help against disinformation? Should we worry that AI image and text generators have advanced to the point that they are on the verge of making detection of fabricated information impossible? Come find out, the future is now. They are both American and English and range from the early 1950's to the early 2020's. We will begin with Randall Jarrell's Pictures from an Institution, which students should read before coming to the first class. Each novel assigned for this class can be read within a week. Timeless Literature Pieces (NEW)

What defines a work of literature as a classic? Is it because these works, over time, continue to speak to us in new ways and ask us to re-consider them and re-examine our response to them? This class will read literary works that raise these issues and, perhaps, stand as examples of "classics." Italo Calvino's 1991 definitions of a classic will anchor class discussion. Readings include Calvino's If on a Winter's Night a Traveler, Le Carré's The Spy Who Came in from the Cold, a brief excerpt from Proust's Swann's Way, Chaucer's The Miller's Prologue and Tale, and Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude. The focus must be on the development of skills using the ICF Core Competencies. This class is required for those who need to fulfill the 10-hour mentor coaching requirement for the ICF ACC Level 1 credential, the ACC Portfolio Path application, or the ACC credential renewal. Under the guidance and instruction of a qualified Mentor Coach, you will review all (8) updated ICF Core Competencies for deeper learning in a group setting and work one-on-one with the Mentor Coach to refine your individual coaching skills in preparation for the Performance Evaluation (if needed). Distance Learning (DL) are offered completely online and allow students to learn independently, on their own schedules, as they meet specific deadlines and complete assignments. Instructors guide students' learning with lessons, activities, and feedback through a Blackboard course site.

Structured Remote (SR) are scheduled on specific days and at specific times. Students meet as a class remotely through Zoom or Blackboard Collaborate; instructors will tell students which software to use. Students complete reading and assignments according to the course schedule. Class sessions take place in real time, and the instructor leads course sessions.

Hybrid (face to face & DL or SR) are listed in the course schedule with specific times and locations. Some meetings will happen online via structured remote or distance learning along with some on-campus meetings.

More information on instruction types can be found on the web at <https://www.montgomerycollege.edu/coronavirus/student-guidance.html#instruction>.

Distance Learning (DL) are offered completely online and allow students to learn independently, on their own schedules, as they meet specific deadlines and complete assignments. Instructors guide students' learning with lessons, activities, and feedback through a Blackboard course site.

Structured Remote (SR) are scheduled on specific days and at specific times. Students meet as a class remotely through Zoom or Blackboard Collaborate; instructors will tell students which software to use. Students complete reading and assignments according to the course schedule. Class sessions take place in real time, and the instructor leads course sessions.

Hybrid (face to face & DL or SR) are listed in the course schedule with specific times and locations. Some meetings will happen online via structured remote or distance learning along with some on-campus meetings.
