

Christine Johnson McPhail

Christine Johnson McPhail is currently Emerita Professor of higher education and founder of the Community College Leadership Doctoral Program at Morgan State University. She formerly served as the President and Chief Instructional Officer at Cypress College in southern California. She currently serves on the Board of Directors for the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) and the Council for the Study of Community Colleges (CSCC); Advisory Council for the Community College Survey of Student Engagement (CCSSE) and the National Center for Postsecondary Research (NCPR) at the Community College Research Center (CCRC); Coach, Achieving the Dream; formerly served as the Affirmative Action Officer, Division J, American Education Research Association (AERA); Editorial Board for the Community College Journal of Research and Practice; Editor of a recent AACC publication, Establishing and Sustaining Learning Centered Community Colleges. She was the featured international keynote speaker at the Guardian Further Education and Skills Summit 2007 in the United Kingdom. Her research interests lie in the intersection of three fields of higher education: leadership, governance, and learning.