

Winter Session Enrollments and Student Characteristics January 2007-2008-2009-2010

Winter Session classes began in the Winter of 2007 and have grown in offerings and enrollment over the four years that this three-week session has existed. Students have increased from 459 to 1,249, hours of enrollment have climbed from 1,189 to 3,462, and course sections have grown from 19 to 61. Very few of the Winter students are new-to-MC in Winter and about three-fourths began their MC career prior to the previous Fall semester. By race and gender, the Winter students are similar to Fall or Spring semester students, although women attend Winter in slightly lower proportions and Asian and White students attend Winter at higher proportions, while Black and Hispanic students attend in slightly lower proportions than in Fall or Spring. Winter students are also considerably younger at 22 - 23 than regular semester students who average 26 years of age.
