Recent High School Graduates Attending in Fall

Source of Recent High School Graduates

There was a slight increase (n=24) of recent high school graduates enrolled this fall. There were substantial decreases in attendance by graduates of private schools in the county and home-schooled students in the county. Recent graduates from high schools in other countries and out-of-state offset the declines in private schools and home-schooled students.

Montgomery County Public School Graduates

This fall, one-in-four (25.2%) of last spring's MCPS graduates enrolled at the College (that is, 2,561 of 10,153 graduates). This percentage is down very slightly from last year's 25.3% share of the 2007 MCPS graduates.

Montgomery Blair (n=151), Gaithersburg (n=143), Magruder (n=142), and Northwest (n=141) were the high schools that sent the largest number of their Class of 2008 graduates to the College. As a proportion of the individual high schools' graduating classes that attended the College in the fall 2008 semester, Seneca Valley led with 42.7%, followed by Clarksburg (40.5%), Wheaton (38.3%), Watkins Mill (35.6%), and Kennedy (33.2%). Only five of the twenty-five MCPS high schools sent fewer than one-in-five (20%) of their 2008 graduates to the College in the fall semester.

The College's draw rate from recent graduates of the Upper Region high schools (31.7% of graduates) was significantly greater than the draw rate from the Lower Region (23.5%) and the Middle Region (22.3%) high schools.
