

Title: Question Answer Strategies

Goals: To prepare students to approach different types of questions.

Description: Taking an exam involves not only understanding the content but also knowing how to answer questions. To help students prepare for an exam, inform them of the types of questions they will encounter (multiple-choice, essay, etc.) and how to approach these questions.

Example:

- For multiple-choice questions, remind students to:
 - read all the multiple-choice questions first, before reading the text. Then, as you read, answer the questions one-by-one when you find the answer. After you finish reading, double-check to make sure you have answered questions correctly. Decide which multiple-choice questions are quickest to answer. Answer those first. Then, answer the questions that take longer to answer.
- For fill-in-the-blank questions, remind students to:
 - read the whole sentence, even the part that comes after the blank. Then, decide whether the word missing is a noun, adjective, adverb, or verb. If there is a word bank, look at the options and choose from those words that are the same part of speech.
