Dr. Pollard concluded her report with a reference to the President’s Focus, which centers on marketing and branding. She stated that this area has had to make some creative changes in response to the pandemic and some of them have proven very productive, adding that the process has given us some insights on how we connect with students in the increasingly remote environment and the high level of digital sophistication needed to specialize our messaging for audiences with different needs.

He also announced that the AGB National Conference on Trusteeship was held earlier in the month, with a focus on shaping transformative change in higher education.

Board Chair Knapp directed the Trustees’ attention to a document in their board packets that reflects the latest draft Anti-Racism Statement and Action Plan, stating that at the June Board meeting, the Board will share an anti-racism strategy with a concerted plan of action to be implemented in FY22 for consideration.
