Date: September 28, 2020

Good afternoon. Welcome to the last few days of September.

As we enter the second month of fall, remote classes I want to remind students and instructors about virtual tutoring, which can be an asset in our distant settings. Please take advantage and help yourself (or your students) excel.

I also want to remind part-time faculty members that those with four semesters of teaching at MC are eligible to apply for a sabbatical. The Shoenberg Fellowship is in its inaugural year and applications are due in the next three weeks. This fellowship is one that the College is proud to offer, giving part-time faculty the chance to pursue research and writing that ultimately serves their students while advancing their professional journey.

A few other resources to help you through these challenging times: Additional rental relief for those impacted by COVID-19 is now available through Montgomery County, along with this week's food distribution calendar. MC students can access CARES applications or reach out for financial assistance from the Montgomery College Foundation.

Have a good week, stay safe, and please wear a mask.
