FYE Summer Bridge Program at Montgomery College

Program Information

The FYE Summer Bridge Program includes a one-credit course (First Year Seminar: STSU 100) that allows students to experience the college environment prior to the fall term. Through structured and integrated activities, students are prepared to meet the demands of college by bridging the gap between high school and college. Statistics consistently have shown that students who attend a summer bridge program achieve higher grade point averages, have higher retention rates, and experience higher graduation rates than students who do not attend such programs. After completing the program, students typically demonstrate more confidence and self-assuredness—and are better prepared to begin college.

Students should attend the course on the campus on which they intend to take classes. They should also commit to enrolling at Montgomery College in the fall semester immediately following the First Year Seminar.

Enrollment is limited; scholarships may be available to those who successfully complete with at least a grade of “C.”

What Will Students Do in the First Year Seminar?

- Explore goals and career direction
- Develop an education plan that meets their goals
- Learn how to access campus resources and services
- Discover new study and time management skills
- Understand costs and financial aid opportunities
- Improve team-building and problem-solving skills
- Become familiar with the campuses
- Understand graduation requirements
- Increase knowledge of MC policies/procedures
- Meet other students, faculty, and staff
- Investigate transfer information
