

The Germantown Office of Student Life, the English and Reading Discipline, and the Humanities Area of Montgomery College present

DENICE FROHMAN

Join us for a celebration of Hispanic Heritage Month

Award-winning poet, performer, and educator from New York City, Denice's work explores the complexities of language, lineage, queerness, and the colonial relationship between the United States and Puerto Rico. Frohman sees her poetry as a tool for social change, cultural preservation, and aims to subvert traditional notions of power and knowledge.
